

AFRL commander addresses school groundbreaking

by Fran Crumb, Information Directorate

AFRL COMMANDER ADDRESSES SCHOOL GROUNDBREAKING — Brigadier General Paul D. Nielsen, commander of the Air Force Research Laboratory, addresses May 4 groundbreaking ceremonies for a new $45.6 million Rome Free Academy high school at the former Griffiss AFB. General Nielsen served as commander of the Rome Laboratory at Griffiss from July 1992 to March 1995. The new facility, expected to open during the 2002-2003 school year, will be co-located at the Griffiss Business & Technology Park with AFRL's Rome Research Site.